Supporting students with essential back to school supplies.

Scotiabank has once again collaborated with Eden Lodge Youth Charitable Trust on its annual programmes, including this Back-to-School Programme, where families/students are provided with vouchers to go shopping for their essential school supplies.

Scotiabank is committed to investing in the youth of Barbados. They are the future and as such, it is important to support them now so that they have the tools to succeed, rise up and realise their full potential.

At the presentation this year, Kim Grant of Scotiabank's Bridgetown Branch commented "As a Scotiabanker, we always love to get involved and experience first-hand how we are making a difference in the lives of those in the community. And as such, I am extremely grateful to be here this morning, helping to support these students as they prepare for the start of school in a few weeks.

She also went on to pay kudos to Eden Lodge Youth Charitable Trust. "We take this opportunity to commend the work of Eden Lodge in supporting the development of our youth. It is great to work with partners who share our passion and commitment to providing opportunities for our youth to succeed." Grant concluded.
