Scotiabank employees help spread Christmas cheer.

Employees of Scotiabank helped 2 charities spread Christmas cheer this year. On Saturday December 18, they joined members of I am a Girl Barbados in its Pop Up Outreach initiative, to deliver care packages to girls involved in the charity's Adopt-a-Girl Programme, which Scotiabank has contributed to, as well as engage the girls in Christmas themed games. Additionally, over the past week, employees donated towards Variety's the Children's Charity's Holiday Gift Drive. These donations were handed over to the charity yesterday - Monday December 20.

Scotiabank's Natalie Garraway presents a participant in I am a Girl Barbados' Adopt a Girl Programme with a care hamper consisting of school supplies and book vouchers, hygiene supplies and sanitizer kits.

Scotiabank's Erica Walkes and Lana Fingall engage a participant in I am a Girl Barbados' Adopt a Girl Programme in a Christmas themed game, as they helped the charity spread Christmas cheer over the weekend.
